The medical assessment form will also include the signatures of the President and General Manager of the participating club and must be received by the CONCACAF General Secretariat at the latest seven (7) business days prior to the start of the Competition.
- C. Further to the above, each team must have a duly licensed medical professional (i.e., a doctor) as part of their official delegation. Such signal will indicate to the team doctor and the medical emergency team (stretcher team) to immediately institute comprehensive resuscitation that includes the use of a defibrillator (AED) and CPR. It is the responsibility of the organizing association to ensure that there is a properly functioning AED immediately at hand and that there is an ambulance with an access and egress plan.
- G. During the match if there is a traumatic head injury and concussion to a player, and the player remains on the field of play, the referee will stop play.

In these instances, the referee will signal (hand to the top of the head) to the team doctor to enter the field to assess and manage the player. Up to three minutes should be sufficient time to make this assessment. Once the player has left the field of play, he must be given a Sideline Concussion Assessment Test (SCAT) or similar test. It is the responsibility of the team doctor to determine the player's ability to return to play.

- USA3: The 2017 Lamar Hunt U.S Open Cup champion
- USA4: The 2018 Lamar Hunt U.S Open Cup champion

In the event that the same MLS club meets more than one of the above qualification criteria, the MLS club with the highest aggregate point over the 2017 and 2018 MLS regular season would also qualify. Champions League qualifications for MLS clubs would revert to the current criteria for the 2020 Champions League Tournament.

Note: Should one or more Clubs hold multiple slots or if Canadian Clubs occupy one or more places, then the Club(s) with the next greatest number of regular season standings points, regardless of the Conference, will fill the remaining available berth(s).
